DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-32 are pending in the application, claims 15-31 are withdrawn from consideration.
2. Amendments to claims, filed on June 26, 2006, have been entered in the above-identified application.

Election/Restrictions

3. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-14 and 32, in the reply filed on March 15, 2010 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that a complete search and examination of the entire application could be made without serious burden. This is not found persuasive because the present application was filed on the national stage under 35 USC 371 and is evaluated by the criterion that unity of invention exists between multiple inventions only when these inventions share one or more "special technical features" in common with the understanding that these special technical features define a contribution which each of the inventions makes over the prior art. As stated in the office action mailed February 22, 2010, evidence of lack of unity between the groups is found in US Patent No. 2,046,000, wherein it is found to disclose the features of instant claim 23. As such, the special technical features of the claimed invention are not found to define a contribution over the prior art.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

4. Claims 15-31 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on March 15, 2010.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless —

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-14 and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Junji et al. (JP 05-254066), see English machine translation for prior art discussion.

Junji discloses an embossed release paper for synthetic leather production, comprising at least paper as a support (page 7, paragraph [0027]) and an ionizing radiation cured film provided on the paper, the upper part of the cured film having been embossed, characterized in that the radiation cured film has been formed by applying radiation to a coating liquid comprising at least a radiation curing composition having a softening point of 40°C or above, to cure the radiation curing composition, the radiation curing composition comprising a product of a reaction of an isocyanate compound with an (meth)acrylic compound containing an (meth)acryloyl group and reactive with the isocyanate compound (page 3, paragraph [0006]). Junji further discloses film further comprises 1 to 70% by weight of a film forming resin and 0.5 to 20% by weight of a silicone compound. A seal layer comprising an inorganic pigment and a film forming resin is provided on the surface of the support (abstract). The film has a multilayer structure of at least two layers (page 5, paragraph [0016]).

The limitation “ionizing radiation cured” is a method limitation and does not determine the patentability of the product, unless the process produces unexpected results. The method of forming the product is not germane to the issue of patentability of the product itself, unless Applicant presents evidence from which the Examiner could reasonably conclude that the claimed product differs in kind from those of the prior art.
